RACERS DECIDE BET AT DEPOT

Drake Man's Boast Proves Expensive to Tune of Fifty Iron Men

His boast that he was some runner proved expensive to George Harper, Drake University athletic star, at the Union depot shortly after train 19 arrived from the east.

Harper, en route to San Francisco, made the acquaintance of Frank McGee, a freshman from the University of Chicago, on the train and athletic prowess was taken up and discussed early this morning prior to the arrival of 19 from Wyoming.

"The century, say, I have covered the ground in that class in 9 and 4-5 seconds on many occasions," said Harper.

"Well, I am not much of a speed merchant, but I have dogged over the distance in 10-2 seconds, but even at that I have fifty bucks to say that I can beat you, minus training."

The bet was made shortly after the breakfast hour with J. Camden Smith as stakeholder.

The straightaway in front of the Union depot was measured off and the race arranged. Both men were primed for the start.

Both men were off to a fast start with Harper walking away with the honors. The fifty-yard mark McGee started to creep up on his opponent and at the seventy-five yard mark the men were running neck and neck. McGee won by a foot. The money was exchanged and a second race planned for tomorrow in Nevada.

The winner stated today that he had many times defeated a 4-5 second man, and that the majority of the men with such records were just "stallers" and that a man running many times returned in the winner. The race created considerable interest.

MELVIN REDDEN.

Funeral services for Melvin Redden, son of John H. Redden, who was drowned in the Weber river Monday afternoon, were held this afternoon at Hoytsville.

PAVING ON 30TH IS COMPLETED

Contractor to Transfer Activities to Washington Avenue Project Monday

Paving on Thirtieth street has been completed and motorists will now find the new stretch one of the most perfect in the city, according to an announcement made this morning by City Engineer Joseph M. The note takes cognizance of the acceptance of the Russian soviet government of the principles laid down in the British memorandum of July 1 and agreed to a resumption of negotiations for definite peace relations as soon as the Russian delegates return to England. Then, proposing an armistice with Poland, the note said:

"The British government is anxious to restore peace throughout Europe and therefore proposes the following arrangement:

"That an immediate armistice be signed between Poland and Soviet Russia under which hostilities shall be suspended. That the terms of this armistice provide on the one hand that the Polish army shall immediately withdraw to the lines provisionally laid down last year by the conference as to the eastern boundary by which Poland is entitled to establish a Polish administration.

"On the other hand the armistice should provide that the army of Soviet Russia should stand at a distance of fifty kilometers east of this line. In eastern Galicia each army will stand on the line they occupy at the date of the signature of the armistice.

"That as soon as possible thereafter a conference sitting under the auspices of the peace conference, shall assemble in London, to be attended by representatives of Soviet Russia, Poland, Lithuania, Latvia and Finland, with the object of negotiating a final peace between Russia and its neighboring states. Representatives of eastern Galicia also would be invited to London to state their case."

"The British government has bound itself to give no assistance to Poland for any purpose hostile to Russia and to take no action itself hostile to Russia. It is, however, bound under the covenant of the League of Nations to defend the integrity of Poland within its legitimate ethnographical frontiers.

"If, therefore, Soviet Russia, despite its repeated declaration will not be content with the withdrawal of the Polish army on the condition of a mutual armistice, but intends to take action hostile to Poland in Poland's own territory, the British government and its allies will feel bound to assist the Polish nation to defend its existence with all means at their disposal.

Why Be Skinny? TELLS DYSEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

It's Easy to Be Plump, Popular and Attractive

It's easy to be plump, popular and attractive instead of being thin, angular and scrawny. Almost invariably the trouble is due to weak nerves and consequent failure to assimilate your food. You may eat heartily, but owing to the lack of nervous energy and impoverished blood you don't get the benefit from the food you eat. All of this can be remedied very quickly by taking with each meal a five-grain tablet of Blood-Iron Phosphate. This quickly strengthens the nervous system, enriches the blood and increases its oxygen-carrying power, and in a remarkably short time the average thin, weak, nervous man or woman begins not only to put on flesh, but also begins to look and feel better. Sleep, appetite, strength and endurance are improved, dull eyes become bright and, unless afflicted with some organic complaint there is no reason why, if you take Blood-Iron Phosphate regularly, you should not soon look and feel much better and many years younger.
